

TO: Nicole (Nicky) Amos, Associate Professor of Practice (Executive Associate Professor)

FROM: James R. Brown, Professor and Department Head, Adam C. Sinn '00 Department of Finance

SUBJECT: Annual Performance Review: January 1, 2024 – December 31, 2024

Jamie Brown (Jun 10, 2025 08:38 CDT)

This letter serves as your performance review for the period January 1, 2024 through December 31, 2024. My evaluation is based on the information submitted through Faculty 180, which includes documentation of your teaching performance and service activities (as with most APT faculty appointments, your position does not have formal research expectations).

Mays Faculty Promotion and Tenure Guidelines define four levels of performance for the key dimensions across which performance is reviewed. These levels of performance are:

- Excellent performance: a high level of performance that meets and exceeds norms and expectations and that is reflected by substantive indicators of excellence;
- Effective performance: performance that meets norms and expectations and that is reflected by substantive indicators of effective performance;
- Needs improvement performance: performance that falls below norms and expectations of effective performance as reflected by substantive indicators of needs improvement performance;
- Unsatisfactory performance: performance that falls below norms and expectations of excellent, effective, and needs improvement performance as reflected by substantive indicators of unsatisfactory performance.

Teaching

Your formal teaching assignments included FINC 672 (2 sections), FINC 671 (2 sections), and FINC 684 (1 section). In these assignments, your evaluations were generally positive and in line with department averages. Student feedback highlighted that you are an exceptionally knowledgeable and effective instructor who explains difficult concepts clearly and inspires strong engagement. Some students voiced concerns about course organization and communication, particularly related to Canvas structure.

Most Positive Comments:

- Professor Amos has been one of the more knowledgeable Professors I have had in regards to the material she teaches. She also was incredible at communicating/teaching the difficult material and allowed me to thrive in a class that I would otherwise struggle in.
- This was by far my favorite course.
- I wish Professor Amos taught more classes, as I would sign up for anything she teaches! I truly believe she has a gift when it comes to explaining difficult concepts to students.

Most Critical Comments:

- Some of the module organization was a little confusing.
- The due dates on Canvas were never fixed and the wrong CMA's were uploaded almost every week... Honestly, Professor Amos's Canvas page was the most disorganized out of all the professors.
- It felt like this class was always on the back of her mind... She would answer her phone in class and keep her ringer on, but yelled at the class several times for students being on their phone.

Department Average (Effective Course/Effective Instructor): 4.40/4.44

Evaluation Average (Effective Course/Effective Instructor): 4.32/4.36

Overall Evaluation: Excellent

Service

Your service and leadership to the department is exceptional and indispensable. You consistently exceed expectations and foster a culture of excellence. A (non-exhaustive and AI-facilitated) summary of your leadership impact and contributions includes:

- Department Operations: You have masterfully overseen department-wide operations, administrative staff, and financial coordination with exceptional attention to detail and strategic vision. Your leadership in refining financial tracking and budget processes has established unprecedented transparency in quarterly and annual budget reviews. As the primary liaison to College business teams, you have advocated effectively for departmental needs, securing necessary resources and support. Your implementation of technology-driven process improvements, including automated systems for expense reports and student worker approvals, has significantly enhanced operational efficiency and reduced administrative burden.
- High-Impact Program Management: Your strategic leadership of the Master of Real Estate (MRE) program through summer 2024 has yielded impressive results, notably increasing employer demand and improving graduate outcomes. Your foresight in spearheading curriculum and structure enhancements aligned with industry needs has positioned the program for continued success. Your meticulous approach to data collection and reporting for both undergraduate and graduate programs has provided valuable insights for strategic decision-making. Perhaps most importantly, you have single-handedly authored a successful proposal for a new BBA in Real Estate, substantially expanding the department's academic offerings and market position. Additionally, your assistance with restructuring undergraduate high-impact courses within the Sinn Center for Investment Management demonstrates your impact and commitment to educational excellence across all programs.
- Human Resources & Faculty Support: You have demonstrated exceptional interpersonal skills and administrative acumen in managing the APT faculty appointment letter process with precision and care. Your oversight of faculty teaching assignments and support for performance evaluations and professional development has strengthened the department's academic foundation. Particularly noteworthy is your skillful handling of sensitive staff and faculty performance issues, including several Title IX complaints and official HR corrective performance actions, which you addressed in a collaborative and constructive manner. Your talent for recruiting high-performing staff members has elevated the overall quality and capabilities of the department.
- Special Projects & Strategic Initiatives: Your leadership of key initiatives has been transformative, particularly your direction of the Aggie Real Estate Programs, which achieved remarkable growth with board membership. Your leadership of the Real Estate Programs proposal resulted in significant donor pledges and established ambitious yet achievable future expansion plans. Your strategic data analysis and reporting have provided crucial support for departmental decision-making and long-term planning. Your financial acumen in identifying and addressing budget gaps has substantially improved the department's financial sustainability. Most impressively, you have established financial controls and operational procedures that successfully restored the department to solvency following a year of deficit—a testament to your financial leadership and problem-solving abilities.
- Process & Operational Improvements: You have demonstrated exceptional organizational skills by centralizing and streamlining student worker hiring and scholarship processing, creating significant efficiencies. Your development and implementation of workflow management tools has enhanced team productivity across the department. Your improvements to organizational transparency through enhanced systems for purchases, expenses, and approvals have fostered a culture of accountability and trust.

- College and University Service: Beyond departmental contributions, you have demonstrated institutional commitment through service on the Business Education Complex Visioning Committee, helping shape future infrastructure. You also participated on Department Head search committees served as Vice-Chair of the Mays Graduate Curriculum Committee.

Overall Evaluation: Excellent

Research and Scholarly Leadership:

As noted above, your position does not have a formal research expectation.

Other

Promotion, Tenure, and Reappointment

The Professor of Practice faculty track contains one additional rank: (Full) Professor of Practice (Executive Professor). Mays' promotion guidelines indicate that Associate Professors of Practice (Executive Associate Professors) typically serve at least five years in rank before seeking promotion, but that early promotion can be sought. Promotion to Professor of Practice (Executive Professor) has the following minimum requirements:

- Pattern over time of excellence in teaching
- Pattern over time of effective performance in service and/or research and publication
- Potential for continued excellence in teaching and effective performance in service and/or research and publication
- Professional conduct conducive to a collegial work environment and standards of professional integrity that will advance the interests of Mays Business School and Texas A&M University

It has been inspiring to witness your selfless service to the Department. You take on many more tasks and way more responsibility than other Assistant Department Heads in the College, and you do so with remarkable efficiency and good cheer. I do not see how the DH role would be possible without you! I am exceedingly grateful for your partnership in leading the Department, and I truly appreciate all your contributions to Mays Business School.
