Instructions

Please review all the information below. When all sections have been confirmed, click "Submit For Review."

Teaching (Custom Section)

This information is auto-populated from a university data source and pulls the main instructor of record only (Fall 2009-present). Student credit hours will now auto-load starting Spring 2023. New courses will be uploaded on the 12th day of class each semester. Each course section is editable and faculty members who teach should verify their teaching information is correct. Faculty members can also add their "% Contributed to the Course" as well as a "Descriptive (if applicable)". Faculty members who are co-instructors can now add the courses they co-taught to this section including their percentage of effort in teaching the class. Faculty members can also indicate if a course has "Multidisciplinary Collaboration Activities" by choosing "Yes or No" as appropriate for this column.

If you have any questions, please contact us at faculty180@tamu.edu.

Publications, Conference Proceedings, Patents and Creative Products/Innovations

This section is for Publications, Conference Proceedings, Patents and Creative Products/Innovations. Faculty should review their publication information that was retrieved from Scholars@TAMU (scholars.tamu.edu) and uploaded into Interfolio. Examples of Publications, Conference Proceedings, Patents and Creative Products/Innovations: Artistic and Professional Performances, Artistic and Professional Productions, Books, Book Chapters, Case Studies, Conference Proceedings, Exhibitions, Journal Articles, Patent and Intellectual Property, Published Abstracts, Reviews, Technology, and Other Scholarly Work.

NOTE: There is a weekly feed for new items from Scholars@TAMU to Interfolio into this section. If you already have a Scholars@TAMU profile, that data (e.g., books, book chapters, journal articles, conference proceedings, patents) will automatically populate here from that account. This data feed is to help save your time and efforts to report your publication data. You will still have the ability to add new scholarly contributions as well as edit any pulled entries. Please be advised that if you manually enter something that will also be entered in Scholars@TAMU, it will appear as a duplicate entry – hence, we recommend checking your Scholars@TAMU profile for new entries first.

▼ Teaching, Research and/or Other Scholarly or Creative Activities, and Service Impact Statement (Faculty Evaluation Review)

Teaching, Research and/or Other Scholarly or Creative Activities, and Service Impact Statement	Semester
TRS / Creative Activities Statement	Start Semester
Research: My research currently has an estimated 850 citations, and an h-index of 10, according to google scholar. I was appointed a member of the European Corporate Governance Institute this year.
Teaching: Fulin and I were chatting about teaching once we concluded our first semester of teaching at Mays in Summer 2024. I offered to look at her teaching evaluations and provided some tips on how to address the feedback most effectively for the upcoming year.
Service: In 2024, I reviewed a total of 17 manuscripts: six manuscripts for top-3 finance journals, another five manuscripts for FT50 finance journals outside the top 3, and another six manuscripts for other finance and economics outlets. I also served on the junior recruiting committee.	Spring 2024
I led one pre-seminar discussion and participated in job market mock interviews and PhD admissions interviews. I also participated in the 2024 Fall lunch event that Tristan organized for junior faculty to give feedback to early-stage ideas proposed by PhD students.

▼ COVID-19 Impact Statement (Faculty Evaluation Review)

What impact has COVID-19 had on your teaching, research/creative activities, and service, job responsibilities or professional opportunities?	Start Semester

▼ Goals (Faculty Evaluation Review)

Faculty should denote progress made on goals for the previous year and enter new goals for the upcoming year with regard to teaching, service, and research/creative activities as relevant to assigned faculty title and expected duties. Goals will be reviewed with your Department Head during your annual review.

If you have any questions, please contact us at faculty180@tamu.edu.

Goals	Semester
Please list what your goals were for the previous year and what your planned goals are for the upcoming year.	Start SemesterEnd Semester
My most important goal for 2024 was to make significant progress on the revision of "The Market for CEOs" (with Dirk Jenter, LSE) to resubmit it to the Journal of Finance as soon as possible.
We have completed all of the empirical work and have written approximately 75% of the response to the referees. The last part is a bit more challenging because it involves some theoretical arguments raised by one of the referees.	Spring 2023Ongoing
My co-author had some personal issues that prevented him from working on research in the summer of 2024.
Learning from the past, we tried to set more meetings and milestones that we need to hit so that we have a clear path to resubmission. Based on the progress we made and my co-author's teaching and other commitments, I expect that we will resubmit by the end of the academic year, around July 2025.
Work in progress: I currently have three areas with preliminary work. 1) Local newspaper closures as a source of changes to investor information sets. The second paper on this research agenda, joint work with Jasmin Gider (Tilburg University), Jordi Mondria (University of Toronto), and my former PhD student, Alison Taylor (Queen's University) is shaping up well. We expect to have a draft on SSRN by the end of May, 2025. Note that two out of four authors are currently on parental leave, so progress is a bit slower, but is mostly in line with our expectations.
2) Explicit stakeholder contracts (with Freda Fang, a PhD student at the University of Toronto and Pat Akey, INSEAD): We are collecting data on material contracts between the firm (management) and various stakeholders such as major shareholders, creditors, and the government. We hope to understand how these contracts tie the hands of management and the implications for setting managerial incentives. We expected to finish the data collection and see some initial results by the end of 2024. Progress has been slightly slower because the filings were harder to parse than we initially thought. We now think that we can collect all the required data by the end of Summer 2025.	Spring 2023Ongoing
3) Performance signals in managerial labor markets (with Dirk Jenter, LSE): we hope to study managerial careers to understand how boards may extract performance signals in hiring decisions, and whether their evaluation may be biased in some cases. We expected to make progress on the data collection by the end of 2024. This project was slowed because of some personal issues my co-author was facing. However, we realized that we could use a commercially available data source for a large part of this project. LSE is in the process of buying that data. Once we have the data, likely in April 2025, I can make a more precise prediction on the project timeline.
"Credentials Matter, but Only for Men: Evidence from the S&P 500" (with Adriana Robertson, University of Chicago): we were hoping to submit this paper to a journal for the first time. We hoped to send the paper to a journal in 2024. We updated the data all the way to 2022 (instead of ending in 2018), and added a few more robustness tests in response to feedback we received at conferences. My co-author presented it at the European Finance Association and the American Law and Economics Association. I presented it at the American Economic Association and the Lone Star Finance Symposium. Both of us are teaching in Spring 2025, but we should be able to submit the paper very shortly after we are done. Most of my teaching has already ended, so I am hopeful that we can submit in May 2025.	Spring 2023Ongoing

Teaching: My goal for Spring 2024 was been to solicit and listen attentively to student feedback throughout my teaching. In Fall 2024, I made adjustments to my teaching as necessary based on the feedback that I receive. I believe that I achieved the majority of my teaching goals. For 2025, I did not make any changes to the FT MBA as the 2024 evaluations were quite encouraging. Following advice I received from mentors Shane and Wei, as well as an accounting faculty member, Mary Léa McAnally, who has taught accounting in the PMBA, I have been making some minor changes to my PMBA teaching. These include fine-tuning the delivery of the material and incorporating more interaction with the students and some group work.			Spring 2023	Ongoing
Research goals overall: Following Shane's advice, I tried to focus most of my efforts on my papers that are R&Rs or are closest to being submitted. Doing so led to steadier progress on my more advanced projects and slowed progress on my early-stage projects. As a result, I had one new R&R (JFQA) and one new working paper. I elaborate on the various elements of my research portfolio in separate line items.			Spring 2024	Ongoing
New "revise and resubmit": My paper with Adriana Robertson (Chicago) titled "Continuity and Change on Corporate Boards" received an R&R from the Journal of Financial and Quantitative Analysis in March 2025. We started submitting this paper to journals in Fall 2024, and, in accordance with my overall approach to the research portfolio, I focused some of my efforts since then on making changes as needed and sending it out to (the next) journals.			Fall 2024	Ongoing
Looking at the JFQA report, I believe that we should be able to revise the paper by the end of calendar year 2025. Both of our teaching is concentrated in the Spring term, but I expect good progress once Adriana also finishes most of her courses. New working paper: Last year, I wrote that the second paper from the newspaper closure research agenda would be available in 2024. This prediction turned out to be accurate. Jasmin Gider (Tilburg) and I wrote "Newspaper Closures and Trading in Local Stocks" and posted it in November 2024. I presented this paper four times in Fall 2024. I will also be presenting it at four conferences in Spring 2025. My co-author and I believe that the conference acceptances and the SSRN download numbers are an encouraging start.			Fall 2024	Ongoing
