

Boone Bowles

Predicting Anomalies

- Adam Reed, Matthew Ringgenberg, and Jacob Thornock
- Submitted to FRA/JFE Dual Submit in August 2024. Accepted in November 2024 to be submitted to JFE.
- Submitted to JFE on January 2025. Revise and Resubmit in March 2025. Planning to resubmit by end of May.
 - The empirical side of the revision is complete; it is just writing now.

(Not) Everybody's Working for the Weekend: A Study of Mutual Fund Manager Effort

- Richard Evans
- Submitted to FRA/JFE Dual Submit in August 2024. Not accepted. Revisions planned and executed.
 - Rich Evans (co-author) is doing a final review of the introduction this next week, and we are submitting to RFS.
- Submitted to FRA/JFE Dual Submit in August 2023. Not accepted. Revisions planned and executed.

Mutual Fund Shorts and the Benefits of Acquiring Information

- Adam Reed
- Submitted to JF in October 2024. Rejected. Revisions planned.
- Preparing a revised version for submission to RFS in June 2025.

Investor Learning Networks and Return Predictability

- Dora Horstman and Xiaan Zhou
- Submitted to JFE April 2025. This was desk-rejected in 12 hours.
 - Seriously, I submitted it late Friday night and got the rejection at breakfast on Saturday.
 - Revising the pitch and submitting to JFQA by end of May 2025.

Timely Factors

- Adam Reed, Matthew Ringgenberg, and Jacob Thornock
- I know you don't need information on stuff not yet submitted, but this is the 3rd in our series of anomaly papers and will be submitted later this year. I am excited about it. More to come on this soon.