SUBJECT: Annual Performance Review: January 1, 2024 – December 31, 2024

Both Texas A&M University and Mays Business School require that the performance of all faculty be reviewed on an annual basis. As noted in the Mays Faculty Promotion and Tenure Guidelines, the purposes of the annual performance review include:

- Creating a sound and logical basis for merit compensation recommendations
- Providing evaluative feedback regarding how well the individual is currently performing
- Providing developmental feedback regarding areas where the faculty member's contribution may be enhanced and/or improved in the future
- Providing feedback regarding progress toward promotion and/or tenure as relevant

Further, the Mays Faculty Promotion and Tenure Guidelines define four levels of performance for the key dimensions across which performance is reviewed. These levels of performance are:

- Excellent performance: a high level of performance that meets and exceeds norms and expectations and that is reflected by substantive indicators of excellence;
- Effective performance: performance that meets norms and expectations and that is reflected by substantive indicators of effective performance;
- Needs improvement performance: performance that falls below norms and expectations of effective performance as reflected by substantive indicators of needs improvement performance;
- Unsatisfactory performance: performance that falls below norms and expectations of excellent, effective, and needs improvement performance as reflected by substantive indicators of unsatisfactory performance.

This letter serves as your performance review for the 2024 calendar year. The following reflects information provided in your Faculty 180 submission. In addition, the tenured Finance faculty had the opportunity to review your annual report (containing detailed information about your research, teaching, and service) and current resume and provided me with their assessment and feedback. In the sections below, I first briefly summarize the main contributions you have made in each area, present the assessment of the tenured faculty, and provide my own independent assessment.

Research

Highlights of your research activity during the three-year evaluation window include:

- In the last three years, you had one paper published in the Brookings Papers on Economic Activity and received one revise and resubmit from American Economic Review, a leading economics journal.
- You are producing a handbook chapter for Entrepreneurship and Innovation Policy and the Economy, Volume 5.
- You produced four working papers and have started several promising projects
- You are presenting your papers at influential economics forums and conferences.

Teaching

- You taught three sections of undergraduate (FINC 381) and three sections of graduate (FINC 642) Money and Capital markets Course.

Service

- You are refereeing for numerous high-quality journals.
- Member of the program committee for the department's Young Scholars Finance Consortium.
- Serving as discussant and session chair at prestigious conferences.
- Your invited media appearances provide you and your research with a wide exposure.

Tenured Faculty Assessment

As you will see below, all nine members of the tenured faculty rated your research performance as “excellent”. We are pleased with your pipeline and with the fact that you are collaborating with your faculty colleagues in the department and on mainstream finance research topics. We hope you will show research leadership and consider producing sole authored work. You have hit the ground running and we encourage you to continue on this pace.

Department Head Assessment

I agree with the assessment of the tenured faculty. You had an excellent final year as a visiting assistant professor at TAMU, and we are extremely glad to welcome you as a more permanent member of the department. Your research program is important and timely and policy-relevant, and your ability to hit the top economics journals is truly impressive. You have a strong pipeline of working papers and are diversifying your set of co-authors. You are already establishing a reputation as one of the thought leaders on issues related to ‘public R&D’, and, although I agree that you will need to demonstrate research leadership and should eventually target some of your research to finance journals, I encourage you to lean into the strong momentum you have going with the public R&D research program. Most importantly, I strongly support your goal of converting the AER paper and generating a follow-up paper for submission to Econometrica. And I applaud your engagement with the NBER and would love to see you become a Research Fellow or Associate very soon!

I greatly appreciate your active engagement in department service, particularly related to the seminar series and help with faculty recruiting this past year. I also appreciate your engagement and mentorship of the department's PhD students.

Thank you very much for your contributions to the Adam C. Sinn '00 Department of Finance and Mays Business School. We are lucky to have you, and it is a real pleasure to work with you!
