

TO: Sally Guyton, Principal Lecturer

FROM: James R. Brown, Professor and Department Head, Adam C. Sinn '00 Department of Finance

SUBJECT: Annual Performance Review: January 1, 2024 – December 31, 2024

Jamie Brown (May 29, 2025 23:51 CDT)

This letter serves as your performance review for the period January 1, 2024 through December 31, 2024. My evaluation is based on the information submitted through Faculty 180, which includes documentation of your teaching performance, and service activities (as with most APT faculty appointments, your position does not have formal research expectations).

Mays Faculty Promotion and Tenure Guidelines define four levels of performance for the key dimensions across which performance is reviewed. These levels of performance are:

- Excellent performance: a high level of performance that meets and exceeds norms and expectations and that is reflected by substantive indicators of excellence;
- Effective performance: performance that meets norms and expectations and that is reflected by substantive indicators of effective performance;
- Needs improvement performance: performance that falls below norms and expectations of effective performance as reflected by substantive indicators of needs improvement performance;
- Unsatisfactory performance: performance that falls below norms and expectations of excellent, effective, and needs improvement performance as reflected by substantive indicators of unsatisfactory performance.

Teaching:

You taught FINC 341 (multiple large sections including Honors) and IBUS 456 during Spring and Fall 2024, reaching over 1,700 students across sections. These courses are foundational to our Core Body of Knowledge, making your role especially impactful. You also led honors projects and mentored students through complex investment analyses. Your additional instructional efforts included managing teaching assistants and engaging students through multimedia, self-check quizzes, and applied finance problems.

You continue to make a substantial impact on our undergraduate programs through your instruction in FINC 341 and IBUS 456, including Honors sections. Your commitment to student engagement, mentorship, and managing large enrollment sections contributes meaningfully to the success of our core curriculum.

Your formal teaching assignments included FINC 341 (7 sections). Student evaluation comments in both your large-section and Honors were mixed, with some students indicating that you are a passionate and interactive instructor who fosters a positive learning environment and provides valuable real-world connections. Others expressed concerns about course pacing, organization, and timely feedback, particularly in large sections where students felt a lack of clarity and depth in some course content. We acknowledge that large-section CBK classes should be evaluated against classes of similar size.

Most Positive Comments

- Sally Guyton was a wonderful and interactive professor. I do not think there is a single bad thing anyone can say about her.
- Great job allowing space for questions in class... her passion for finance really shines through.
- Professor Guyton was an effective instructor even though she was gone for some of the semester, which speaks volumes about her organization and devoted TA's.

Most Critical Comments

- She doesn't necessarily teach in the most optimal manner... I often found myself having to relearn the topics after class.
- The structure of the course is way too intense... you have to teach yourself an entire chapter every week.
- Grading assignments took an indefinite amount of time... there was no real feedback for the work we completed.

Department Average (Effective Course/Effective Instructor): 4.40/4.44

Overall Evaluation Average (Effective Course/Effective Instructor): 4.12/3.87

Honors Evaluation Average (Effective Course/Effective Instructor): 4.61/4.28

Overall Evaluation: Effective

Service:

You serve as the advisor to the Financial Management Association (FMA), supporting student development through speakers, socials, and annual trips to Austin, Houston, and New York. Additionally, you lead annual study abroad programs through the Center for International Business Studies (CIBS), designing and executing international itineraries with a career development focus. You also teach and mentor in the FINC 341 Honors sections and manage a large team of TAs.

Your longstanding service to the department and university is exceptional. From advising FMA and leading impactful study abroad programs to mentoring Honors students and coordinating TAs, you have demonstrated a deep commitment to enriching the student experience well beyond the classroom.

Overall Evaluation: Excellent

Research and Scholarly Leadership:

As noted above, your position does not have a formal research expectation.

Promotion, Tenure, and Reappointment

You were promoted to Principal Lecturer effective September 1, 2023 and will be reappointed at that rank for Academic Year 2025-2026. This is the highest rank available within your faculty track.

I truly appreciate all your contributions to the department and to Mays Business School.
