ISTM 281/481 Professional Development in Information Systems Seminar					228	Taught a new seminar course to help students gain experience working with APIs. Specific concepts and tools covered included: REST APIs, Spotify's API, terminal, cURL, CLI, Twilio, RestFox, VS Code, Thunder Client, Postman APIs, Vue.js, and Node.js. Additionally, I created a "choose your own adventure" aspect to the course, to allow students to focus on further developing their skills in their respective areas of interest.	2024-01-01	2025-05-31	Spring 2024					Revise Existing Course	Undergraduate

Teaching, Research and/or Other Scholarly or Creative Activities, and Service Impact Statement (Faculty Evaluation Review)

TRS / Creative Activities Statement	Semester
The primary impact of my work at Texas A&M is through my teaching. A teacher can change the way a person thinks, not just about a given topic, but about everything. As such, teaching by its very nature generates a societal impact, whether for good or bad. I strive to ensure a positive societal impact of my teaching not only by delivering high-quality content, but also through the ways in which I interact with my students. In my classes, I try to ensure that they feel seen, heard, understood, and that their thoughts and opinions are valuable. Further, I am keenly aware of the fact that several of my students are first-generation college students, and as such, I take very seriously my responsibility for shaping their minds in such a way as to prepare them for future success. For this reason, in addition to teaching modules related to technology (e.g., programming, databases, personal information security, and ethical frameworks in IT), I also teach modules covering life skills that they might not receive elsewhere, such as metacognition strategies, empathy, logical fallacies, and even personal finance. I also try to create a positive impact through my service roles as Assistant Department Head and Graduate MIS Advisor. In my role as Assistant Department Head, I try to make decisions that improve the quality of life of both my faculty and the students they teach. In my role as the Graduate MIS Advisor, I provide not only academic guidance, but also career and life guidance where possible. Finally, I try to create positive impact through my pedagogical research, by sharing innovations that have worked for me – such as Self-Directed Learning Exercises (SDLEs) and Nascent Teaching – and starting up a Faculty Learning Community (MIS Teaching Improvement Collaborative – MISTIC). My desire is for other teachers to be able to read about those innovations and adapt them to improve their own teaching.	Spring 2024

Goals (Faculty Evaluation Review)

Goals	Start Semester	End Semester
Please list what your goals were for the previous year and what your planned goals are for the upcoming year.
I wanted to make progress on my pedagogical research, in particular my paper on 'Nascent Teaching'. This remains a goal, and I'm still working on getting that ready for EDSIGCON.	Spring 2024	Ongoing
I wanted to continue improving 281/481. That work is ongoing and this remains a goal.
I wanted to make some progress in revising the undergraduate curriculum. We were already making some good progress on this when the announcement of the 18-month college-level curriculum review came down. So it appears that several of the ideas we were talking about will now show up in a different forum.
I still want to do my best to improve our program, our enrollment numbers (UG numbers are up again!), and the quality of graduates from our programs. I still want to become an excellent teacher. And I still want to be of service to my department, school, and university in whatever capacity my skills are needed.
